1. INTRODUCTION

Humberside Fire and Rescue Service (HFRS) is committed to working on behalf of the local community, visitors and staff and has a duty to uphold their human rights. By better understanding the diversity of communities and their specific needs, HFRS can provide an appropriate and responsive service that is effective, efficient and of a high quality.

Human rights are the non-negotiable foundation on which this policy stands. Accordingly, HFRS, under its legal obligation, has to have 'due regard' under the Equality Act 2010 with the need to:

- Eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation and any other conduct prohibited by the Act.
- Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a characteristic and those who do not.
- Foster good relations between people who share a characteristic and those who do not.

HFRS has a set of Equality Objectives which aims to address local equality priorities as part of its Public-Sector Equality Duties (PSED). These are embedded into the HFRS PSED action plan which is refreshed annually.

HFRS is committed to the process of equality impact assessment (EIAs) through which the Service considers the likely equality impact of new or changes to existing policies, projects or functions (see EIA policy for further information).

Core Code Of Ethics

HFRS has adopted the Core Code of Ethics for Fire and Rescue Services. The Service is committed to the ethical principles of the Code, one of which is equality, diversity and inclusion and strives to apply them in all we do, therefore, those principles are reflected in this Policy.

National Guidance

Any National Guidance which has been adopted by HFRS, will be reflected in this Policy.

2. EQUALITY AND INCLUSION

HFRS has a legal responsibility under the Equality Act 2010, and a commitment, to ensure it does not discriminate either directly or indirectly in any of its functions and services nor in its treatment of staff, in relation to race, sex, disability, sexual orientation, age, pregnancy and maternity, religion and belief, gender reassignment or marriage and civil partnership. It also has a duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled applicants, employees and service users.

HFRS aims to continuously improve the standards of service we provide to the community we serve. We recognise the importance of and are committed to promoting equality and inclusion in the provision of our services and to our employees. We are committed to encouraging equality and diversity amongst our workforce and to eliminating unlawful discrimination. We aim for our workforce to be broadly representative of the community we serve and for each of our employees to feel respected and to be able to give their best.

We recognise our legal responsibilities under the Equality Act 2010. Specifically, the public-sector equality duty to eliminate unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation, advance equality of opportunity and foster good community relations and have an engaged, fairly treated and motivated workforce. In particular, we oppose and are committed to eliminating all forms of unfair treatment at work based on, age, disability, sex, race or national origin, religion and belief, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, marital or civil partnership status, pregnancy or maternity, political opinions, trade union activity or membership, lack of trade union activity or membership or spent criminal convictions not relevant to the post. We aim to promote equality, fairness and respect for all of our employees.

In working to protect and keep communities and individuals safe from fire and other emergencies, we recognise that people's needs may be different and that some people will be more at risk of fire and emergencies than others. We aim to target our services and resources to protect the whole community and to reduce the additional risks faced by some. In developing appropriate services, we will work to engage and involve our communities.

3. AIM AND OBJECTIVES

This policy demonstrates how HFRS values diversity and inclusion, how it meets its responsibilities set out in legislation and how it will pay due regard to equality within the Service.

Anyone who has any form of contact or relationship with HFRS has a right to be treated fairly with dignity and respect. This includes Councillors, the public, external partners, visitors and staff (including apprentices, work experience, temporary workers, agency, contractors, volunteers).

This principle applies equally to all people regardless of any protected characteristic (as defined by the Equality Act 2010) as detailed:

- Age
- Disability
- Gender reassignment
- Marriage and civil partnership
- Pregnancy and maternity

- Race
- Religion and belief
- Sex/gender
- Sexual orientation

This policy is in place to ensure as far as is reasonably practicable that these rights are protected, respected and observed.

HFRS encourages respect for diversity and works to eliminate discrimination in its role as an employer, provider of services and community involvement. HFRS aims to create an environment where difference is valued and respected and in which fairness, dignity and respect are embedded in interactions with the public and between each other and encourages individuals to develop and maximise their true potential. HFRS is committed in striving to achieve a workforce that is broadly reflective of the local communities it serves.

Who must comply with the Policy?

- All employees of HFRS.
- Anyone delivering services on behalf of HFRS e.g. contractors, volunteers, partner organisations and people on work experience/apprenticeships.
- Any visitor to HFRS premises, and or user of HFRS facilities or equipment.

When does this policy apply?

At all times.

What does it mean?

HFRS will not tolerate racist or sexist behaviour or any other unjust or unfair unlawful discrimination, harassment or victimisation by or towards any of its staff, contractors, partners, including those who deliver services on behalf of HFRS.

What will happen if someone does not comply with the policy?

Where discrimination, harassment or victimisation has taken place, appropriate action will be taken in line with HFRS policies and procedures, for example bullying and harassment or disciplinary.
